

Learn about Asian Elephants!

Asian Elephants are the largest herbivore in Asia, and one of the largest land animals on the planet! Elephants need to eat a lot to fuel their huge bodies, one elephant will spend up to 16 hours eating 165 to 330 pounds of grass and fruit to leaves and bark every single day!

Useful Noses

An elephant's trunk is actually a long nose with many functions! It is used for smelling, breathing, trumpeting, drinking, and grabbing things—especially a potential meal.

Their trunk over 100,000 different muscles!

Have you Herd?

Asian Elephants live in large family groups called herds. Herds are made up of an older female and her daughters and granddaughters. The oldest female is the matriarch and she leads her family herd to find food and water and helps protect them from dangers. Male elephants can sometimes be found in herds together, they're usually too rowdy to be around the females.
